

E McMullan Ltd - Environmental Policy Statement

E. McMullan Ltd provides engineering consultancy, and GPS / GIS surveying activities in Northern Ireland & Great Britain. We recognise that our processes do not entail a large environmental burden, but we strive to minimise the impacts that are generated from our day-to-day activities, such as vehicle emissions.

E. McMullan Ltd also undertakes work resulting in positive environmental impacts, such as water leakage reduction projects.

As part of our commitment to our integrated approach to managing business risks, we will comply with relevant legal and sector requirements associated with our environmental aspects and impacts, and will set appropriate objectives to drive continual improvement in our performance.

Company management is committed to monitor, review and continuously improve the environmental management system (including this policy statement and its associated objectives) to ensure its continued suitability and effectiveness within an Integrated Management System framework.
